Ready-to-move homes

10TH ANNIVERSARY

RTM and Modular Building Systems is a method of construction, not a building type. It greatly differs from temporary buildings, such as construction trailers or mobile homes. These are custom-designed residential and commercial buildings just like their site-built counterparts.

Using RTM and modular does not change the design, structural system, or finish materials options available to the owner and architect. The only difference is in the method of "construction".

THE PRIMARY BENEFITS OF RTM MODULAR CONSTRUCTION INCLUDE:

- Streamlined construction process (in many cases occupancy occurs 50% faster than with conventional construction).
- Resource efficient – less materials wasted, less material exposure to inclement weather and less waste in landfills.
- Reduced environmental impact – less site damage, less site disturbance and a safer construction site.
